

First!

The Iron Lady

The Iron Lady, as the Rendsburg High Bridge is affectionately called, has shaped the city's skyline since 1913. As an engineering masterpiece, it symbolises movement, connection and elegant engineering – and accompanies Restaurant DREI with a view of the Kiel Canal.

Kiel Canal and the Sparkling Wine Tax

The construction of the Kaiser Wilhelm Canal, today known as the Kiel Canal, financed by the sparkling wine tax introduced by Kaiser Wilhelm II, began in 1887 and was completed in 1895. Today, 30,000 ships pass through the canal each year, making it the busiest artificial waterway in the world.

We were here before the canal came. As the Kiel Canal was still a dream of the future, the first plaice were already sizzling in our kitchen. Since 1874, we have been serving pleasure with a view in Rendsburg – back then overlooking meadows, and since 1895, passing ocean giants. Whether big ships outside or small delicacies inside: at Drei im ConventGarten, tradition meets appetite and history tastes twice as good. So: weigh anchor, set your fork – and bon appétit!

1874: The ConventGarten opens as a restaurant with a ballroom – a place for celebrations, music and encounters.

1895: With the opening of the Kiel Canal, the building moves to the waterfront and becomes part of the new waterway.

1910–1945: The ConventGarten remains the social centre of Rendsburg – even in difficult years. After the Second World War, the building is temporarily used by the British occupation before reopening as a guesthouse.

1950–1980: The house experiences its heyday – dance evenings, family celebrations and lavish parties define the decades.

1990s: Renovations and new concepts bring tradition and modernity together.

2020: Extensive expansions and renovations bring fresh splendour to the historic building.

2025: Under new operators, the concept of Restaurant Drei moves into the ConventGarten. A new generation of hosts continues the house with passion, regional cuisine and an open eye for the future.

All Sorts from Everywhere

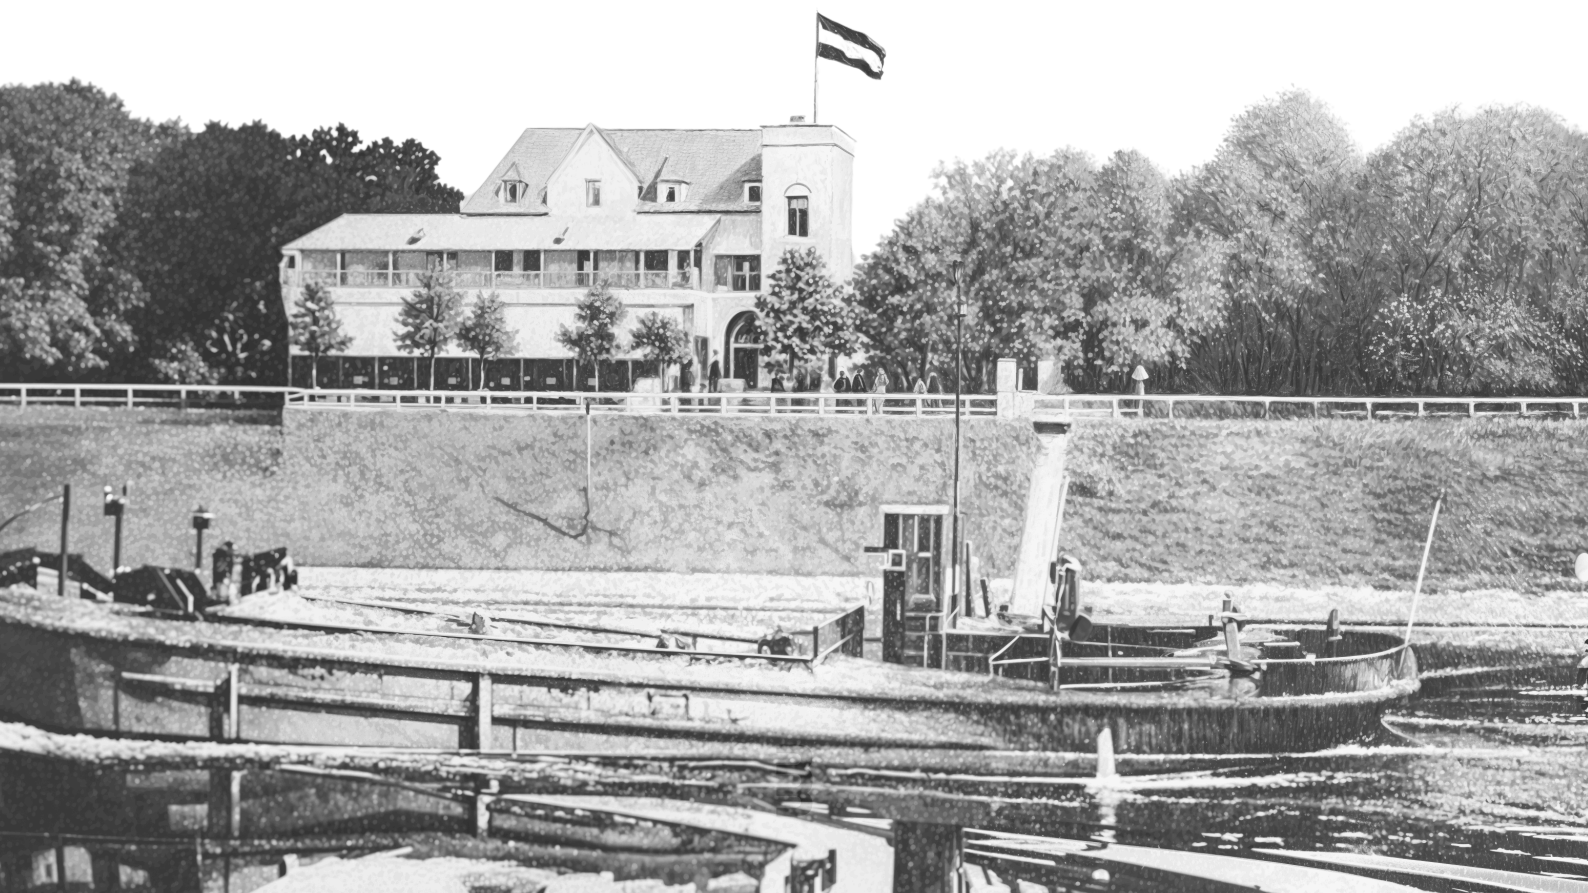

Right on the Kiel Canal, ships from all over the world pass by every day. And that's exactly how our kitchen feels.

Under the motto "All Sorts from Everywhere," we bring our favourites from every port in the world to the table – sometimes Nordic, sometimes international, sometimes completely unexpected.

This & That - the main thing is delicious.

Everything is meant for sharing: order together, taste, pass it over, reorder. That's how an evening quickly becomes a little culinary journey.

For you, it means: sit back, watch the water, and enjoy.

Celebrations?

We've always been good at that!

Even before the first steamers passed through the canal, the ConventGarten was already in full swing.

What once began as a meeting place for social occasions has remained the heart of our house to this day: the joy of celebrating, of encounters and of unforgettable moments.

The ConventGarten stays true to its roots – and we are happy to host your event today as well: from conferences to weddings, from small gatherings to large parties.

We look forward to seeing you – at our place! Today as back then.
